

January 7, 1959

Dr. George Klein
Institute for Cell Research
Dept. of Tumor Biology
Carolinska Institutet
Stockholm 60, Sweden

Dear George:

I was pleased from your letter of the second to see that you are going ahead smoothly with Zinder. That should be a very interesting occasion.

I'm sorry that my picture for Professor Liljestrand is not satisfactory and just at the moment I don't have a more suitable one. However, a University photographer has been pressing me to pose for him and this requirement furnishes enough justification to go ahead. I will send on a print as soon as convenient but this may be some brief time yet.

As I was afraid you might, you have neglected one of your serious obligations, namely to send me the bill for the postcards, etc. I have made my own estimate of this and am enclosing a check which I hope will at least nearly cover it. Please be sure to tell me how much more is needed. If it should happen to be too much, please just hold the balance for me until our return. We are looking forward to next spring but more than anything else to getting over with the immediate problems of packing up and moving.

As ever,

Joshua Lederberg

enc;
JL:mk